List of state highway routes in Massachusetts The Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) maintains a system of state highways in the U.S. state of Massachusetts, which are marked with standard-sized black-and-white state highway signs with orange borders. As of 2019, MassDOT's system consists of 5,184 state highways, including 35 numbered state highways, 587 state routes, 959 MassHighway bypass routes, and 34 unsigned collector routes. Of the 35 numbered routes, three are also included in the United States Numbered Highway System: Interstate 90, Interstate 291, and U.S. Route 1. The highways range in length from the Massachusetts Avenue in Boston to the George Washington Bridge in New York. All state highways and Massachusetts routes are maintained by MassDOT. Route numbers are assigned by a three-digit numerical scheme, which may be preceded by a regional number or a letter to identify the route within the region. The following are assigned by MassDOT, with the region and numbering reflected in the Massachusetts Highway System route designations and in the state's system of numbered routes and state routes. State routes are assigned by Massachusetts Geographic Board.
